WNCAP WELCOMES NEW MINORITY EDUCATION CASE MANAGER

Born and raised in South Carolina, Brodderick Roary is a graduate of Coker College with a BS in Marketing and Management. His professional background is diverse, but his passion is in human services. In 2004, he worked for a non-profit that provided mental health services to children and adults where he worked one-on-one with youth clients providing therapeutic services, counseling and case management. This opened the door for him to work as an HIV/AIDS Case Manager for a small non-profit in Charlotte, NC. Roary eventually became the Ryan

White Part A and Part B Program Manager at QHCS, Inc. where he successfully started the agency's HIV/AIDS Counseling, Testing and Referral program along with managing the case management, housing, mental health, psychosocial support and supportive case management services. In 2009 he assisted with the writing and development of an HIV/AIDS education and prevention grant which was ultimately funded by the Centers for Disease Control (CDC) and focused on reducing the HIV infection rates in the African-American and Latino MSM (Men who have Sex with Men) Communities in Mecklenburg County.

Brodderick has been HIV/AIDS advocate since the late 90's. Two of his cousins died as a result of complication of HIV/AIDS and he lost two very close friends to the pandemic. He is committed to advocacy, provision of client services and continued development of HIV education and prevention programming in the African-American community

"I am super excited about this wonderful opportunity to work with WNCAP as a Health Educator and Minority Case Manager. I will be working in Cleveland County and the surrounding areas providing HIV/AIDS prevention and education programming in the community along with case management services. I look forward to developing great partnerships within the community to ensure that we work together to provide education, prevention and testing services on HIV/AIDS."
